RAYMOND H. STETSON SCHOLARSHIP IN PHONETICS AND SPEECH PRODUCTION

Application deadline: 5 March 2018

The Acoustical Society of America announces the availability of two fellowships for graduate study and research in scientific areas related to the field of phonetics and speech production.

Eligibility: An applicant shall be a member of the Acoustical Society of America prior to, or at the time of, the application deadline for the Stetson Scholarship. Evidence of good academic standing in a graduate degree program during the entire scholarship term is also required. Financial need is not a consideration.

Award: The award for each scholarship consists of a $20,000 stipend plus up to $3,000 in travel expenses for one academic year to attend meetings of the Acoustical Society of America.

Eligible Research: Research areas to be supported, in preferential order, are:

Motor speech production

- Motor coordination of speech organs
- Kinematics of speech articulation
- Aerodynamics of speech production
- Combined acoustic/kinematic modeling of speech

Phonetics

- Linguistic issues related to speech production
- Articulatory phonology, experimental phonology

Bio-developmental factors in speech

- Neural function for speech communication
- Infant/child development for speech communication

Evaluation and Selection Process: Applications will be evaluated by a subcommittee of the ASA Technical Committee on Speech Communication. Criteria for selection will include the applicant's academic record, a personal statement of no more than three single-spaced pages, two letters of recommendation, a copy of a research paper, and the relevance of the research area as stipulated by the gift which established this Scholarship. The subcommittee will be the sole judge of relative merit of work in the several research areas that are to be supported.

Application procedure: The completed application form, copies of transcripts of university graduate study, a personal statement, a current curriculum vitae, a research paper, and two letters of recommendation should be sent to the address indicated below, with postmark no later than 5 March 2018. Applications and letters sent by e-mail attachment and must be submitted not later than 5 March 2018. Letters should be written on letterhead paper and include the signatures of the sponsors. The successful applicant will be notified on or about 25 May 2018.
